

The exclusive Shamwari Townhouse in Port Elizabeth, on the south east coast of South Africa, sets new standards for discreet and lavish boutique accommodation in the Eastern Cape. Nestled in the posh beachfront suburb of Summerstrand, Shamwari Townhouse is flanked by kilometres of unspoilt beaches and malaria-free nature reserves, including the award-winning Shamwari Game Reserve.

The Shamwari Townhouse is one of the most recent additions to the Mantis Group, which was founded by Adrian Gardiner in 2000. Gardiner began with two thousand acres of eroded and abused land, an “insignificant” piece of valley bushveld, and from this he grew Shamwari Game Reserve, which is now 25 000 hectares in size and has seen the re-introduction of the large game that once occurred naturally in the Eastern Cape. Shamwari now hosts visitors from all over the world, and proudly displays how Mantis has brought back the wild lands.

Beauty and luxury redefined

The Art Deco façade of Shamwari Townhouse’s double storey building reflects elegance and contemporary interiors touched with local contemporary artworks set on a tranquil estate with indigenous private grounds perfecting an ambience of stylish serenity.

Six exquisite suites, all masterpieces of comfort and opulence, are designed to blend original artworks and characteristics with luxury services. In addition, spacious en-suite sitting rooms allow guests to relax, unwind and feel the comfort of home, while beautifully appointed double bathrooms with exquisite amenities further enhance the experience. Each suite is also equipped with business units and wireless connectivity to keep guests in touch with the world.

The presidential suite affords the ultimate luxurious accommodations for dignitaries, public figures and those only wanting the best money can afford. The opulent art deco design of the suite incorporates modern African and European influences. The presidential suites boasts an additional sitting room area and private terrace overlooking the seascape of the rich blue Indian Ocean – the perfect backdrop for sundowners or a private dining experience.

Shamwari Townhouse's luxurious Executive Boardroom is fitted with the latest communication technology, from video conferencing and tele-conferencing to wireless technology.

A private 14-seat cinema is modelled on the cinema in Clarence House, Prince Charles' residence in London, providing an elegant setting for business and leisure purposes.

A variety of champagne and award winning selection of wines can be appreciated in the classic Champagne Lounge or adjoining terrace overlooking the tranquil surrounds. The Jazz Room and Dining Cellar dining reflects fine delectable gastronomy in graceful warm settings, specialising in creative South African cuisine influenced by international flavours and complemented by fine, rare, local and imported wines.

Guests can indulge in the intimate offerings of the Rock Retreat which specialises in international organic body and beauty treatments, promoting a holistic lifestyle and sense of well being while a well equipped fitness centre with the latest fitness technology and personal trainers ensure guests sustain daily and healthy exercise routines.

No stone was left unturned to ensure that Shamwari Townhouse offers business or leisure travellers service excellence that Mantis is renowned for the world over.
